Best Practice of the Institute-01

Title of Best Practice: "Diwali Celebration with the Tribals"

Introduction:

Diwali the festival of light, celebrated all over India, but the tribal communities in our area seemed to be in dark so their Diwali needed to be illuminated. Hence our College decided to celebrate Diwali with the tribal community by avoiding lighting, crackers and shall use the amount to light the festival by helping the community itself, this activity is celebrated annually by the college on the tribal belt. This year we celebrated at the Katkariwadi Karanja, Uran, Dist- Raigad on 24th October, 2022. A total of 55,000/- was spent on this initiative.

Objectives of the practice:

1. To enhance the happiness of the tribal community.
2. Not to let tribal know that they are deprived.
3. To distribute the food items specially prepared a festival among tribal community.
4. Distribution of new clothes to tribal community.
5. By Distributing Stationery to school students in tribal communities.
6. Creating a social commitment towards the tribal in the society.
7. To build moral and social commitment among college students.
8. Bridging the gap between civil society and tribal society

The Context:

From Uran Taluka of Raigad district has the part of the Sahyadri mountain range. In this Sahyadri hill, a large number of tribal communities are living. This society is not in contact with modern economy and social order. There is rapid development in the country but tribal society is deprived of this development. This tribal society is still living the traditional way.

Their main business is to cut wood and sell it, but they have been banned from deforestation recently. Therefore, hunger Starvation has come upon many tribal communities, some of the wild fruits and of the forest vegetables are sold to make a living by them. Their financial condition is not good. They are living in very bad condition. The tribal community does not even have enough money to fulfil their daily requirement.

Diwali is an important festival and so we celebrate Diwali with this tribal community considering all the circumstances that tribal community does not even have new clothes for this festival. These activities involve all staff members some and students. Every year new students Join the program. Social commitment it builds and develop their Human values among the students.

The Practice:

All staff Members and alumni of Konkan Gyanpeeth Uran College of Commerce and Arts come together and celebrate Diwali with tribal Community at Tribal Areas. Diwali is celebrated in a special way, Sari for tribal women, men clothing, T-shirts and school supplies for young children as well as various sweet treats are distributed to the tribal community. The program covers everyone from the children of the tribal community to the elderly. First of all, the problems of the tribal community are known and our Principal and experienced Professor in the College are guided of it. This event is held every year on the day of Diwali. This is a program to remove the darkness of tribal life as a whole. No government funds or college funds are used for this initiative. As a social commitment, all college staff and college alumni volunteer raise as much funds as possible for this activity. Various items are purchased through the funds collected. While buying these items, the number of women, men and children are taken into consideration before going to tribal area. Also, clothes are purchased with appropriate measurements based on their age group. This is done to ensure that the tribal can use the clothes and other things properly. They are also informed about various government policies regarding education, employment and provisions for backward areas so that they become aware and enjoy its benefits. Thus Diwali is celebrated with tribal community. Finally, the donors on behalf of the college principals are praised and thanked.

Evidence of Success:

Konkan Gyanpeeth Uran College annually celebrates Diwali with tribal Community. There are three main principles of food donation, Clothes Distributing and enlightenment in activity. This program benefits not only the tribal community but also our students. Following are some of the key benefits of this initiative:

1. It adds to the happiness of the tribal community.
2. The tribes develop the feeling of belongingness to the society.
3. The tribal enjoy the fresh food and new clothes.
4. Students from tribal communities receive school material.

5. All communities have a commitment towards tribalism.
6. A kind of social commitment is created among all the college students.
7. The gap between civil society and tribal society decreases.
8. This initiative is silent message for the government to take initiatives for up liftmen of tribes.

Various things mentioned above make this program a success. News about this initiative is published in various newspapers. Therefore, the community is motivated by this initiative. It is expected that if the government takes care of this initiative, the initiative will be more successful.

Problem Encountered and Resources Required:

There are no facilities where tribal society lives in the hills, there are many problems of tribal society, and it is not possible to solve all their problems. When all their problems are taken into account, those help fall short, Resources for solving tribal problems are inadequate, financial problems arise. When it comes to the purchase of various items for the tribal community, the financial contribution to it is on a personal level, all the college teachers and ex-alumni provide financial support on their personal level. No government or college funding is used for this initiative. Lack of funds is an important issue.

This activity is celebrated on Diwali festival so that students do not attend as much as necessary. This activity is carried out with a minimum number of students. If an organization like JNPT, ONGC, BPCL and any other gets involved in providing financial support for this social cause, it can be of great help, but no other organization has responded yet. The program is run only by all the college teachers, students and Alumni.

Through this initiative we distribute only Foods, clothing and school materials, but the tribal community needs many factors. There is transportation problem to go to tribal settlements, no electricity connection has reached their habitat, they have no access to pure drinking water etc. have serious problems. But with our initiative it is not possible to solve the all problems. More funding is needed to solve also their problems. The government has initiated many schemes, but the lack of knowledge of tribal community and the administration, they do not get fall allocated amount for their development by the government. So, another way is to enlighten the tribal and give proper knowledge to them all schemes of government.

Best Practice of the Institute-02

Title of Best Practice: Establishment of Library in Rural Area

Introduction:

Going with the quote Education is the strength of any nation and knowledge acquisition of knowledge is the best thing every individual can do in one's life. With this aim of contributing in the path of Education in the remote village around our college locations in the mission of our college and it is with this mission we decided to established library at Mahatma Gandhi vidyalaya, Dighode on 14th February, 2023 on behalf of Konkan Gyanpeeth Uran College of Commerce and Arts. The establishment of this library will be of great help to the students as well as the other rural villagers in the area to gain knowledge and reading habits, particularly in the light that there is no public library in the villages nearby.

Objectives of the Practice:

1. To establish library as Knowledge Center in remote areas.
2. To inculcate reading habit among the villagers and students.
3. To provide adequate help to the rural students for Competitive exams.
4. To provide the villagers with the exposure of the recourses.
5. To encourage social inclusion and equity of self-Education.

The Context:

Konkan Gyanpeeth Uran College of Commerce and Arts is located in Uran City. Uran is a Taluka level town of Raigad district in Maharashtra. There are many rural villages around the city of Uran, some tribal settlements are also located in this area and many of these villages do not have public libraries and no other facilities for reading the books. A Public library is needed in such a place so that people can read different kind of books and acquire knowledge.

Similarly, it is necessary to create competitive exam friendly environment in this area. Accordingly there is a need to provide books for various types of competitive examinations. In the competitive environment of this modern world the villagers should derive benefits from the library established on 14th February, 2023 in Dighode village, Taluka Uran, District Raigad.

The Practice:

Reading culture needs to be inculcated across the villages in the rural areas of Raigad District. For this, subsidized libraries are established in many ways villages through the help of Government of Maharashtra. Unfortunately these facilities are not available in all the villages. Knowing this problem, our college visited various villages in the rural areas and found that many villages don't have public libraries.

We decided to build a library in one village every year by selecting the need of the villages which don't have a library. So as an initiative, we choose Dighode village of Uran Taluka under Raigad district and established a library for them. Our College staff, many Students and Alumni contributed and assisted financially for this activity.

Evidence of Success:

The college established a library at Dighode and on the same day organized a "Public Reading" at that place. In this program Principal, Professors and many villagers collectively read books and poems in front of the huge gathering.

Currently there has been a total of 596 books worth 36,050 rupees have been handed over to the Dighode Gram Panchayat for new library and the college been looking forward to provide more source of books and all the help which is required to the library.

Problems Encountered and Resources Required:

Library is our sustainable venture. It is considered as an important act of dissemination of knowledge. Financial support and manpower was required to make this initiative a success and the college did not take help from any government and private organization for this activity, but raised funds on its own.

The Teaching staff, non-teaching staff, students and alumni of the college have contributed financially as much as possible according to their wishes. We are happy to see the large number of reader's responding to this library.
